Welcome to the 2019 ACL Conference. The faculty and staff of the Lewis A. Jackson Library of Indiana Wesleyan University have looked forward to your arrival for almost two years. Now that you are here we trust you will be stimulated intellectually, encouraged professionally, enlightened spiritually, and refreshed personally.

As you explore what being Rooted in Faith and Grounded in Truth means for you, we trust you will be able to take advantage of devotions, the keynote, workshops, and other opportunities as your schedule permits. Please also remember to take care of you by making the time to rest and relax.

As you make your way across the campus to take advantage of various conference activities, we trust you will also take note of the statues placed around the campus and consider their meaning as you read the plaques describing them. In addition, we hope you will learn more about Dr. Lewis A. Jackson, the individual for whom the Jackson Library was named, and his role as an educator, entrepreneur, inventor, and Tuskegee Airman.

Feel free to contact any of the Jackson Library faculty and staff or members of the Conference Planning Team for assistance with any questions you might have. We look forward to serving you as you participate this week.

Enjoy!!

Host Librarian
Indiana Wesleyan University

STAY CONNECTED

We invite you to share your insight and conference experience on social media using the conference hashtag: #ACL19. Look for monitors around campus with our scrolling twitter feed.
On behalf of your ACL Board of Directors, I’m excited to welcome you to the 2019 Annual Conference of the Association of Christian Librarians!

What a blessing it is to anticipate these next few days of personal growth and professional development as we gather here at Indiana Wesleyan University. I am confident that each of us will depart the campus at the end of the week having considered our calling more deeply, examined our work more effectively, and engaged with colleagues more intentionally. Even more importantly, we will have reminded ourselves once again that we are first and foremost the people of God, rooted in faith and grounded in truth, as our conference theme proclaims.

Thanks to the careful work of the Conference Coordinating Team and our hospitable IWU hosts, we can count on a wonderful combination of enrichment, encouragement, and fun this week. Enjoy all of it! From the pre-conference sessions to the keynote presentation to the many concurrent workshops and poster presentations, you will return to your library equipped to serve your community well. I believe you’ll also return to your place of service with bolstered faith and a renewed sense of calling. I can’t imagine a better combination.

May the Lord bless you this week!

Denise Nelson
ACL President

- ACL Home Office: Janelle Mazelin, April McKinion, Alicia Moffitt, April VanPutten | ACL Presenters
It is with great anticipation and excitement that we from ACL Home Office and Conference Coordinating Team welcome you! After many days, months, and even years of planning we are so delighted this time of fellowship and learning is upon us.

I am thankful for the amazing team that I have the privilege to work with. Each with the same desire—for you to have the best possible experience, to be sharpened professionally by the wonderful lineup of speakers and workshops, encouraged in your spiritual walk by your fellow Christian librarians, and equipped to go back to your current role with fresh ideas and knowledge to apply in your unique situation.

You’ll notice that the Conference Program Guide this year is quite different. I hope you enjoy the new full-color format. This change allows us to steward our resources a bit differently and provide every attendee with a spiral bound notebook for taking notes this week or to use as you see fit.

Please don’t hesitate to reach out to me this week if I can help in any way. It is a joy to serve you and I pray this week you will be challenged to be rooted in faith and grounded in truth.

“Therefore as you have received Christ Jesus the Lord, so walk in Him, having been firmly rooted and now being built up in Him and established in your faith, just as you were instructed, and overflowing with gratitude.” Colossians 2:6-7 NASB

ARRIVAL & REGISTRATION

8:30–11:30AM
Jackson Library 17

PRE-CONFERENCE #1: INFORMATION LITERACY FOR THE IGEN
STUDENT. DESIGNING INSTRUCTION SESSIONS THAT ARE HANDS-ON, ASSESSED, AND SUCCESSFUL

Kristy Brand Motz

Pre-registration required. Attendees receive a 0.3 Continuing Education Credit (CEU) certificate upon completion.

Attendees will engage with several active learning exercises and assessments and determine which ones are appropriate to use as-is or adapt to their own specific institutional needs.

Kristy Brand Motz is the Library Instruction Coordinator at Ferris State University in Big Rapids, MI where she received her undergraduate degree in chemistry education. She also earned two Masters degrees from the University of Michigan. Years later, after graduating with her MSI (Information Science) she earned the rank of Professor, Library Faculty, in 2015. Each year she plans and delivers about 100 information literacy sessions as well as coordinates the First-Year Experience library visit. University-wide, she is recognized as an information literacy and assessment specialist, and as a passionate supporter of OER (Open Educational Resources).

Baldwin Dining Room

LUNCH

1:15–4:15PM
Jackson Library 17

PRE-CONFERENCE #2: MOVING ABOVE AND BEYOND: DEVELOPING THE LEADER WITHIN YOU

Dr. Joanne Barnes

Pre-registration required. Attendees receive a 0.3 Continuing Education Credit (CEU) certificate upon completion.

This workshop will focus on understanding how librarians can use experiential learning as a development tool to capture personal leadership knowledge and skills, while creating an environment that fosters succession planning for leaders in the context of higher education. Attendees will experience an interactive pre-conference consisting of short lectures, activities, and assessment tools designed to develop one’s own leadership skills.

Dr. Joanne Barnes, Dean of the Graduate School and Professor of Organizational Leadership in the Department of Leadership Studies, at Indiana Wesleyan University, has been involved in higher education since 1996. Joanne retired from Delphi Electronics & Safety after over 37 years of service, where she held various management and leadership positions.

In 2016, Dr. Barnes received the Outstanding Scholarship Award from Indiana Wesleyan University. Dr. Barnes is currently working on her post-doctorate in global leadership studies at San Jose State University.

4:30–5:30PM
FIRST-TIME ATTENDEES WELCOME MEETING
Jackson Library
All first-time attendees are encouraged to attend. This informal event is a time to learn more about the Association and the conference. Attendees will meet current ACL leadership and other first-time attendees and walk away with a little welcome gift.

5:30–8PM
CONFERENCE KICK-OFF: OUTDOOR COOKOUT & KARAOKE
Jackson Library
Outside
All attendees are invited to the official kick-off of the 63rd ACL Annual Conference. Enjoy a scrumptious cookout, a warm welcome from the Indiana Wesleyan University administration, and then have some fun participating in karaoke, which is sure to be entertaining.

8–8:30PM
WORKSHOP PRESENTERS MEETING
Jackson Library 17
Calling all workshop presenters & co-presenters: this meeting is especially for you! Jaime Pitt, ACL Presentations Coordinator, will communicate important information that you need to know as a presenter. This is also a good opportunity to ask questions, see a room similar to where you will be presenting, and receive a special thank you for being a part of the conference.

8–9PM
JACKSON LIBRARY TOURS
Jackson Library
You are invited to take a tour of the Jackson Library, opened in 2003 and named after educator, entrepreneur, inventor, aviator, and Tuskegee Airman, Dr. Lewis A. Jackson.

Dr. David (Dave) Smith is Professor of New Testament and Church Ambassador at Indiana Wesleyan University. He is also Pastor of the Ministry Development Program at College Wesleyan Church (Marion, Indiana), where he helps develop young pastors in their first ministry position.

Dave received his BA from Asbury University, MA and MDiv from Asbury Theological Seminary, and PhD from Durham University. Dave is passionate about the Gospels and Paul’s letters and has also done extensive study and teaching in the Hebrew Bible. Dave and his wife have recently started a new ministry called True^North. It’s a holistic local church disciple-making program centered around people reading, understanding, and applying the Scriptures both individually and in community.
The mere fact that visitors to libraries are often referred to as patrons points to a challenge. In particular, before one visits a library he or she is thinking about what resources may be acquired. The success of a patron's visit is thus determined by whether an acquisition effort was profitable. As a result, libraries are measured by the size of their holdings and thus the chance of a patron's success. However, what if one were to visit a library to not only acquire resources but also to undergo a formative experience? Instead of just thinking libraries exist for me, what if I also thought about what libraries do unto me? In essence, what is the formative potential of such an experience?

In I Corinthians 13:12, the Apostle Paul writes, “For now we see in a mirror, dimly, but then we will see face to face. Now I know only in part; then I will know fully, even as I have been fully known.” References to this passage often focus on the fact that we see. However, the Apostle Paul was clear to point out that because of our finite nature, we see but do so dimly. What if libraries were places that point us to the reality that we see? However, what if libraries were also places that remind us we will never see all that exists this side of eternity? Dr. Ream will explore the formative potential of libraries in relation to the cultivation of intellectual humility—this side of eternity we need to be reminded that we see, but that we also see dimly. This presentation will also focus on how a chapter on academic libraries would fit into the arc of the argument made in, Restoring the Soul of the University: Unifying Christian Higher Education in a Fragmented Age.

At the conclusion of the presentation, several ACL members will be responding and there will be a time of question and answer. Dr. Ream will also be presenting during Workshop #1 for those interested in continuing the dialogue on this topic.

Todd C. Ream, PhD is professor of higher education at Taylor University and a distinguished fellow with the Lumen Research Institute. He has served on college and university campuses in residence life, student support services, honors programs, and as a chief student development officer. He earned a Doctorate of Philosophy in Higher Education from The Pennsylvania State University in 2001. He also holds a MDiv from Duke University Divinity School and a BA from Baylor University.
Todd has authored and co-authored a number of books including Restoring the Soul of the University: Unifying Christian Higher Education in a Fragmented Age. Todd also has contributed articles, editorials, interviews, and reviews to a wide variety of journals, magazines, and newspapers. A full list of Dr. Ream’s books and contributions can be found on acl.org/conference.

WORK/LIFE BALANCE & MISC: LESSONS IN LIFE & LIBRARIANSHIP FROM THE LEGACY OF FRED ROGERS

Alison Jones, Electronic Resources and Instruction Librarian, Carson-Newman University

With the recent 50th anniversary of the children’s television show, Mister Rogers’ Neighborhood, attention has been on Fred Rogers and his legacy. A Presbyterian minister ordained for children’s television work, whom rarely addressed religious issues on the air, Fred Rogers exemplified the idea of preaching the Gospel without words. For Christian librarians who struggle with how to incorporate our faith in our librarianship, in Christian or secular institutions, Fred Rogers and his television ministry makes an ideal example. Modeling our daily interactions with students on the ideals of Fred Rogers can enable us to be a source of light and hope to our patrons.

ADMINISTRATIVE/LEADERSHIP: MAKING DO WITH LESS: MAXIMIZING PERSONNEL, BUDGET, AND POTENTIAL

Jon Jones, Director of Library Services, Baptist Bible College & Theological Seminary

If you have worked in a library for any measure of time, your budget has been cut. Continually, library administration is asked to do more with less, or at the least, to do the same with less. While smaller libraries have historically been the main target of budget cuts, larger libraries are now experiencing unprecedented budget cuts as well. This presentation will look at practical ways our library and other libraries have dealt with budget and staffing cuts. The presentation will also look at budget management from a business standpoint, as well as trends and information in the greater library community. Budget cuts, whether for personnel, services, or resources, seem to be inevitable. How can libraries respond proactively instead of reactively? How can student workers be used for additional library tasks? How can we effectively defend our current budgets to our administration? How can libraries save money via local, regional, and other consortia and associations such as ACL?

INFORMATION LITERACY: FIXING “THE SNAP”—TRANSITIONING FROM THE STANDARDS TO THE FRAMES IN AN ESTABLISHED INFORMATION LITERACY PROGRAM

Jon Hale, Head of Reference & Information Literacy, Lincoln Memorial University

You thought the Avengers had it rough facing Thanos, Instructional Librarians are having to deal with the Framework. Many of us have worked hard at building an Information Literacy program at our institutions built on the foundation of the ACRL standards. Then along comes the Framework and “SNAP” it turns to dust. This workshop focuses on how we transitioned a well-established Information Literacy program (the focus of the latest QEP of the University) to the new Framework. Attention will be given to addressing all the Frameworks throughout the curriculum as well as assessment. It is still a work in progress, we haven’t quite reached our “Endgame.”

LIBRARIANSHIP: KEYNOTE DISCUSSION—EXPLORATIONS OF THE FORMATIVE POTENTIAL OF LIBRARIES

Todd Ream, Professor of Higher Education, Taylor University

Take the keynote address application a little further during this workshop. Come explore with Todd Ream the formative potential of libraries.

REFERENCE/OUTREACH: WHY FACTS STILL MATTER: FAKE NEWS & ACADEMIC RESEARCH

*Amy Lorson, OCLS Librarian, Indiana Wesleyan University
Rachel Walters, OCLS Librarian, Indiana Wesleyan University*

From parody to fabricated content, our students are bombarded with information that can be difficult to interpret. The internet and social media makes it possible to disseminate fake news quickly and easily. But are our students taking the time to critically think through what they are reading? Helping students understand the need to use legitimate and verifiable information in an age of quick information access continues to be a vital skill that must be taught. We will also discuss the need for proper citation style. We will share real examples of trying to verify sources that may, or may not, exist.
TECH SERVICES & TECHNOLOGY: TECHNICAL SERVICES WORKFLOWS WITH LESS STAFF

Jamie Tiemeyer, Head of Technical Services, Cornerstone University

Do you have Technical Services staff leaving? Are you being told you can only fill the full-time position if you cut a part-time position? These are possible realities here at Cornerstone at the end of summer. How do you make sure all the parts of workflows are covered? What can be combined? I’m researching how to come up with the best workflows. The main question is: How to do more with less? I’ll share what I have learned and my plans so far. I would love to see what other libraries’ workflows look like in their Technical Services areas.

WORKSHOP #2

Handouts and slides from many presentations will be available at acl.org after the conference.

WORK/LIFE BALANCE & MISC: A GROUNDED VIEW OF WORK/LIFE BALANCE IN THE “VOCATION” OF CHRISTIAN LIBRARIANSHIP

Jennifer Ewing, Library Director, Southern California Seminary
Gail Heideman, Dean of Library Services, Greenville University

Are you a new librarian just starting out in the profession? A mid-career librarian who feels the most challenging days have past? Or a solo librarian or library director overwhelmed by the task set before you? As Christian librarians we often view our professional life in terms of vocation. While couching our work in religious terms seems a natural fit, this can create a work/life imbalance leading to burnout. This presentation will explore the concept of vocation, overwork and burnout, mid-career boredom, and the Pauline ideas of singleness and vocation to find a work/life balance that embraces the biblical concept of rest.

ADMINISTRATIVE/LEADERSHIP: IT CAN’T BE DONE WITHOUT PLANNING

Nancy Olson, Director of Library Services, Lincoln Christian University
Carol Reid, Editor, Randall House Publications

From first thought to final result, the various components and processes in successful planning will be examined, including David Allen’s natural planning phases in his book, Getting Things Done. This workshop will look at the use of planning for solving problems, meeting current and future needs, improving productivity, developing a project, and stewarding resources within the library context. Explore using big picture thinking, blank sheet visioning, backward planning, creativity, collaboration, communication, post mortems, “what’s next?” questions, and the impact of delays in the planning process. Do you want to transition vision into reality? Then, this workshop can be beneficial.

INFORMATION LITERACY: CRITICALLY ENGAGING CURRENT ISSUES

Amy Bessin, Instructional Services Librarian, Asbury University

Issues that dominate the news and our cultural conversation can be highly emotional and divisive. It can be tempting to avoid engaging with these issues in an information literacy setting, but it is imperative to prepare our students to engage with information on these issues in a critical manner and that we encourage thoughtful conversation on these topics on our campuses. This workshop will feature an example of a one-shot session... on evaluating information sources for current issues and an example of a community book discussion. There will be time at the end for group discussion.

LIBRARIANSHIP: ACCOUNTABILITY FOR STUDENT EMPLOYEES: BALANCING REAL WORLD WITH GRACE

Noelle Keller, Technical Services Librarian, Adrian College
Juliana Morley, Head of Public Services, Biola University
Lana Wilson, Research Librarian/Assistant Director, Taylor University

Academic libraries employ students in a variety of positions, relying on them a great deal in the provision of key services. This panel highlights the accountability methods in place at three institutions, providing insight and examples of how to strengthen and enhance the systems you may already have in place in order to ensure students are meeting library expectations, fulfilling job descriptions, and taking advantage of opportunities to learn from their mistakes and develop essential workplace skills.

REFERENCE/OUTREACH: SERVING LIMITED ENGLISH PROFICIENT (LEP) USERS IN ACADEMIC LIBRARIES: RESEARCH & PRACTICE

Peggy Nzomo, Digital Sciences, ESL, and Global Education Librarian, Kent State University
Qinqin Zhang, Assistant Librarian: Information Literacy, E-Learning, & E-Resources, Trinity Western University

Drawing from previous research that was carried out at a large Canadian University and on the current practices of the presenters, this session discusses useful strategies for providing library services to Limited English Proficient users in the North American academic context. While providing a working definition of Multilingual Information Literacy (MLIL), the presenters will show that it is indeed possible to celebrate and embrace language and cultural diversity while also alleviating language barriers primarily in the online information environment.

TECH SERVICES & TECHNOLOGY: THE SOCIAL LIBRARY: CREATING AN INTENTIONAL & PURPOSEFUL SOCIAL MEDIA PLAN FOR ANY LIBRARY

Jeff Lash, Web & Theological Services Specialist, Cornerstone University

Social media has become a mainstay of modern society. Libraries need to have an intentional plan for a consistent presence on social media if they want to connect with patrons in the digital spaces that they inhabit. This workshop will show you what a social media plan looks like and give you... some tips and tools to help you begin building a plan for your own library. We’ll also discuss best practices and some pitfalls to avoid so that you walk away well equipped to create a purposeful and effective social media presence regardless of your context.

SECTION MEETINGS
All attendees are invited to attend and participate in the section meeting of their choice.

BIBLE COLLEGE SECTION MEETING
The Bible College Section meeting will include topic(s) that are of interest to Bible College Librarians as well as a short business meeting with the election of new officers. Chair: Pradeep Das

LIBERAL ARTS SECTION MEETING
Anyone working in or interested in libraries in Christian liberal arts colleges and universities is welcome to join us. The Liberal Arts Section meeting will be a business meeting to elect several new officers and to cover topics that are of interest to Liberal Arts Colleges and Universities. This year we are looking forward to short LASIR presentations by the membership. Chair: Gail Heideman

SEMINARY SECTION MEETING
The Seminary Section is pleased to invite conference attendees to a session on the topic of accreditation. Dr. Debbie Creamer (MDiv, MLIS, PhD) will be our speaker joining us by video conference. She is the Senior Director of Accreditation for The Association of Theological Schools and The Commission on Accrediting. As a professional librarian, she will address some aspects of the library standards in the forthcoming changes. Time will be allowed for Q&A. Chair: Craig Kubic

SUI GENERIS SECTION MEETING
This gathering is for librarians that are not part of the Bible, Liberal Arts, or Seminary Section. Come for an informal time of fellowship and sharing of ideas. Meeting Leader: Alice Ruleman

DINNER
Optional Taylor University Library Tour

Travel to Taylor University to visit their Zondervan Library, featuring highlights of their new flexible learning classroom, a variety of student collaboration spaces and group rooms, and the Center for the Study of C.S. Lewis & Friends, considered to be the third largest Lewis collection in the world. The size of this tour is limited so be sure to sign up during onsite registration.

Optional Ivanhoe’s Ice Cream

You can’t come to Indiana Wesleyan or Marion, Indiana for that matter without going to Ivanhoe’s. Ivanhoe’s is the restaurant located in Upland, Indiana famous for its 100 different shakes and 100 different sundaes. In addition to the ice cream treats, customers love the hamburgers, chicken salad, fruit salad, and tenderloin sandwiches. Please remember that any purchases at Ivanhoe’s are not covered by the ACL Conference Registration. Sign-up will take place during onsite registration.

WORKSHOP #3

Handouts and slides from many presentations will be available at acl.org after the conference.

WORK/LIFE BALANCE & MISC: BEING ROOTED & GROUNDED PERSONALLY & PROFESSIONALLY

Bob Triplett, Reference Librarian, Palm Beach Atlantic University

If you desire to better understand the positive role of optimism in your personal and professional life, this workshop is for you. We will examine a fascinating bit of research conducted recently of academic librarians regarding optimism and pessimism, feeling overwhelmed, and how librarians deal with stress. However, this workshop will not focus on highly theoretical concepts but practical aspects of maximizing optimism and positivity and at the same time minimizing negativity and stress in the library workplace.

ADMINISTRATIVE/LEADERSHIP: IMPRINTING READINESS: CREATING & PRACTICING AN EMERGENCY PREPAREDNESS PLAN

Rory Patterson, Associate Dean, Planning, Administration, & Operations, Liberty University
Nick Pavlovic, Facilities Manager, Liberty University

Libraries experience many types of emergency events each year: faintings, cuts, tornadoes, weddings, and more. Having a prepared response can help employees better handle unexpected situations. This workshop will discuss some types of events for which to pre-plan responses and recommend resources for further development of library-specific plans. The presenters will share several ways to prepare for and respond to emergencies at different ranges of cost so that attendees will have applicable ideas whatever the size of their budget. This workshop will also provide ways to practice before and evaluate after events so that the library’s plan continues to improve.

INFORMATION LITERACY: INFORMATION LITERACY WITH A PURPOSE: ALIGNING ASSESSMENT WITH OBJECTIVES

Jennifer Brady, Director of Springfield Campus Library, Southwest Baptist University
Rachel Wallenbeck, Digital Services Librarian, Southwest Baptist University

Information Literacy sessions are critical to student learning, but how do you assess what is being taught versus what is being learned? How can you demonstrate to your faculty and administration that students are learning and benefiting from IL sessions? What happens when your IL assessments don’t correlate with your library’s learning objectives? In this workshop, we will discuss our process of aligning IL session assessment with our institution’s Program Level Student Learning Objectives (PLSLOs), as well as our process of creating an evaluation tool for one-on-one research sessions.
LIBRARIANSHIP: THE ROLE OF THE ACADEMIC LIBRARY IN SUPPORTING AN OPEN EDUCATIONAL RESOURCE (OER)/AFFORDABLE COURSE CONTENT INITIATIVE

Earleen Warner, Research/Instruction Librarian/Zero Cost Course Resources Initiative Coordinator, Bethel University

Become better informed about the move on many college campuses toward the use of Open Educational Resources (OER) and Library eResources as course materials rather than commercial textbooks. Learn how the Library can play a significant role in leading and/or supporting these initiatives. Review the experiences of the librarians, staff, and faculty at Bethel University as an example of what worked well and what needed to be adjusted to make their initiative more successful. Share what is happening on your campuses around this topic!

REFERENCE/OUTREACH: WHAT IS LIBRARY BRANDING? AND WHY SHOULD I CARE ABOUT IT?

Jacqueline Johnson, University Archivist, Miami University
William Modrow, Head, Sustain & Steward Dept: The Walter Havighurst Special Collections, Preservation & University Archives, Miami University

Outreach is vital to libraries! It assists in increasing community engagement. This presentation will share outreach strategies that libraries can adopt to increase use of their collections, tips on how to brand one’s library, how to organize publicity, websites, social media, and reach out to the local community groups. They will also discuss the Ohio Archives Month Program, created in 2014 that has increased interest in their collections.

TECH SERVICES & TECHNOLOGY: TECHNICAL SERVICES ROUNDTABLE

Georgi Bordner, Head of Technical Services, Regent University
Lori Thornton, Technical Services Librarian, Carson-Newman University

Come discuss issues relating to technical services and learn from the collective wisdom of your colleagues in attendance. We’ll discuss what matters to you--RDA, Linked Data, cataloging of specific types of materials, weeding projects, collection development, collection assessment, best practices, technology, etc. While a pre-conference survey will determine the direction for some of the discussion, opportunities to ask impromptu questions will also be presented.
VENDOR EXHIBITS

Vendors are an integral part of our jobs and the conference. This interactive time provides an opportunity to discuss their products and services and to catch up on the latest trends in the field. We truly appreciate all of our vendors and are grateful for their loyalty to ACL. For a full list of vendors and their contact information, see page 41.

POSTER SESSIONS #1

Poster sessions provide an opportunity to see short presentations of new innovations and applications from colleagues.

ROOTED IN FOLLOWERS, GROUNDED IN LIKES: AN INSTAGRAM STORY

Elizabeth Fairall, Digital Services Librarian, Palm Beach Atlantic University

Although Facebook remains the largest social media provider, Instagram has increased in popularity. Thus, in August 2018, the Warren Library launched an Instagram account. This poster gives an overview of the first year on Instagram, the methods for managing it, successes, and the lessons that were learned along the way. The aim of this poster is to provide librarians with an easy-to-implement process for using social media to reach library patrons and promote library services.

A SNAPSHOT ASSESSMENT OF STUDENT SATISFACTION WITH LIBRARY INSTRUCTION

Ann Manginelli, Associate Professor, Research & Instruction Librarian, Tennessee Tech University

During the 2017–18 academic year, the Volpe Library endeavored to assess satisfaction with library instruction from students in a way that would be quick, inconspicuous, and useful. Instruction librarians developed a six-question Likert scale form, with an additional comments field, designed to be administered quickly and offer students the opportunity to provide feedback anonymously and voluntarily. This poster session will present assessment results, lessons learned, and future efforts.
CUBEES, PHOTO SAFARIS, AND EGG HUNTS IN THE LIBRARY
Sarah Davis, Cataloguer/User Services Manager, Corban University

What if the library could host several low-to-no cost events a year: events that engage casual library users, promote familiarity with the library, and create an atmosphere of fun and community while learning? This poster will be highlighting several events that were developed at Corban University. It will also show the planning process, advertising for the event, managing the event, and figuring out the appropriate follow-up methods to keep students engaged after the events.

RESOURCE SHARING WITH OCLC’S TIPASA
Gina Bolger, ILL/Reference Librarian, Cornerstone University

With all of the improvements in interlibrary loan software over the past few years, librarians may be wondering if they should switch to a new ILL system. When OCLC developed their new web-based ILL system, Tipasa, Cornerstone library ILL staff wondered if it would solve some of the problems they were experiencing with ILLiad. After researching the available options, Cornerstone signed up to be an early adopter of Tipasa in the summer of 2017. Come see the reasons they decided to switch and the benefits they have found with Tipasa.

LANGUAGE LABYRINTH
Lauren Denny, Library Technical Consultant, SIL Asia

Ever wonder how to catalog those foreign language books in your library? What fields does one use? Which fields are indexed and searchable? Find out the path SIL Asia took to learn how to catalog the 7700+ languages when only 400+ are recognized by LOC in MARC codes & LCSH. Learn about the iso639 codes and how they can be used and how SIL is looking at using their Ethnologue as a Language Subject Heading Authority.

RETIREE KOFFEE KLATCH

Retirees and future retirees are welcome to an hour of fun and fellowship! Grab some coffee and refreshments in the Commons, then head over to Century for the gathering. We will have a PowerPoint presentation from Craighton Hippenhammer, MLS, MFA, Informatics Librarian, Olivet Nazarene University, retired August 2017. He will speak on “What Successful Retirement Looks Like for a Christian.” Hear about and discuss ways for a meaningful and healthy retirement for a Christian. All ages are welcome!

WORK/LIFE BALANCE & MISC: PUBLISHING & LIBRARIANSHIP

John Jaeger, Reference Librarian, Johnson University
Carrie Beth Lowe, Library Director, Johnson University

This session is for librarians interested in contributing to the academic world through the publication of items such as book reviews, professional magazine articles, academic journal articles, book chapters, and books. Topics covered address these kinds of questions: What might one publish? What considerations should be included when selecting a publisher? What are the steps in the publication process? What key elements should be considered when publishing? A detailed handout will also be provided that gives links to publisher contact information, author guidelines, and calls for papers. In addition, both presenters and participants will share insights gained through publishing experiences.

ADMINISTRATIVE/LEADERSHIP: MANAGING CONFLICT: HOW LIBRARY SUPERVISORS CAN MANAGE CONFLICT BETWEEN LIBRARY PERSONNEL

Samuel Richardson, Head of Special Collections and Archives, University of Tennessee at Martin

A difficult task for a library supervisor is to manage conflict amongst the personnel under their supervision. These conflicts can be very complex and if mismanaged, can create detrimental effects on employees’ physical, emotional, and mental well-being. This presentation will cover the different ways that an academic library can overcome conflict, as well as tips on how to manage it within the workplace. Workplace conflict is inevitable; it is how we manage conflict that dictates whether it benefits or harms the institution.
INFORMATION LITERACY: ISSUES, ACTIONS, & ELECTIONS: LIBRARIANS & FIRST YEAR STUDENTS

Rodney Birch, Instruction & Research Services Librarian, Northwest Nazarene University
Sheryll Hampton, Collection Management Services Librarian, Northwest Nazarene University
Amy Rice, Library Director, Northwest Nazarene University

This presentation will offer insight into the collaboration between the university librarians and the director of the first-year course in the development of an assignment that included library instruction and a link to the issues the Cornerstone community partners address. Attendees will learn how the assignment developed, what librarians presented to students, what technologies were used, and the final outcome of the project. Additionally, the presenters will discuss the “lessons learned” and what they might do differently next time.

LIBRARIANSHIP: SERVING IN LOVE: HOSPITALITY IN THE ACADEMIC LIBRARY

Denise Nelson, Interim Director of Ryan Library, Point Loma Nazarene University

Librarians are called to be hospitable people who welcome our users gladly, providing hospitable spaces in our physical and digital environments, and enacting hospitable practices that acknowledge the needs of our users and eliminate barriers to access. This session will discuss the values and priorities that characterize hospitable people and will provide recommendations for evaluating your library’s spaces and practices in light of this essential aspect of honoring God through our work.

REFERENCE/OUTREACH: RESEARCH CONSULTANTS: GROWING A NEW MODEL OF REFERENCE SERVICES FROM THE FOUNDATIONS OF LIBRARIANSHIP & FAITH

Andrea Abernathy, Research & Instruction Librarian, George Fox University
Justin Lillard, Theological & Reference Librarian, Harding University

Implement research consultations with confidence by learning from two university libraries’ experiences. We will discuss implementation, marketing, and assessment. This workshop will help you answer logistical questions about implementation, as well as how to market the research service. Data and assessment tools will help paint a picture of effectiveness of the model.
TECH SERVICES & TECHNOLOGY: BROWSING CURRENT JOURNALS FROM NEAR OR FAR

Nancy J. Olson, Director of Library Services, Lincoln Christian University

Leslie Starasta, Information Services Librarian, Lincoln Christian University

In a digital world, how can libraries entice users to browse current print journals? The Jessie C. Eury Library’s answer was to create the Journal Table of Contents (JTOC). Join us to learn how library staff combined scans from print journals and links to databases and journal websites to allow library users to peruse the current table of contents for our print journal subscriptions and selected online journals in an A to Z alphabetical format as well as in subject research guides. Attendees will learn how to create their own JTOC or collaborate with others to provide this library service.

POSTER SESSIONS #2

Poster sessions provide an opportunity to see short presentations of new innovations and applications from colleagues.

UNCONVENTIONAL LIBRARIAN’S GUIDE TO...SERVICE, COMMUNITY, INFORMATION RESOURCES, & THE CHRISTIAN FAITH

David Hajdik, Librarian, Tennessee Tech University

Ann Manginelli, Librarian, Tennessee Tech University

Craig Rosenbeck, Technical Services Coordinator, Appalachian College Association

Librarians are tasked to provide information resources to their communities. This poster will provide strategies and tactics from the presenters’ personal experiences and from the scholarly literature on thinking and acting strategically for our organizations, communities, and for the Great Commission of Jesus locally, nationally, and globally. This poster will provide an “unconventional librarian’s” perspective of tested tactics and techniques for being salt and light to the world.
FLYING SOLO? SO ARE WE!

Jim Mancuso, Convener, Solo Librarians Interest Group
This poster session will serve as a springboard for starting discussions with solo librarians who attend conference this year. All librarians face budget and time constraints. Solo librarians must stay productive while keeping a healthy work-life balance. Come interact with other solo librarians to learn how librarians benefit from each other’s wisdom and support. Members of the Solo Librarians Interest Group will explain how they collaborate, learn from each other, and meet online to enrich their professional lives.

TECHNOLOGY-MEDIATED TOOLS: PERSPECTIVE OF THE BOTSWANA INTERNATIONAL UNIVERSITY OF SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY (BIUST) LIBRARY

Barulaganye Hulela, Subject Librarian and Manager-Information Support, Botswana International University of Science and Technology
The purpose of this poster presentation is to share experiences on the implementation of technology-mediated tools used in BIUST library. Information technology is changing the way the academic libraries are operating, managed, and structured. The BIUST library has implemented technology-mediated tools to remain in harmony with the changing information needs of their patrons. Come learn about the way these tools are ultimately improving service delivery with podcasts, What’s App, IR, Padlets, and more!

ASSESSMENT OF LIBRARY IMPACT AND VALUE: GETTING TO THE TRUTH

Anita Gray, Director of Library Services, Huntington University
Tonya Fawcett, Director of Library Services, Grace College & Seminary
Librarians are often looking for an affordable option for assessing the impact and value of their libraries. The Assessing the Educational Role and Effectiveness of the Library at Your Institution survey, based on two principles from the ACRL Standards for Libraries in Higher Education, is now an open-source survey. Results from the first use by a consortium of private colleges and universities will be shared as well as strategies for communicating the outcomes and future use.
IS THIS JOURNAL TRUSTWORTHY? HELPING YOUR FACULTY AVOID THE PREDATORS WHEN YOU DON’T HAVE ACCESS TO THE TRADITIONAL “EXPENSIVE” RESOURCES
Alice Ruleman, Liaison Librarian to College of Education, University of Central Missouri
Don’t have Scopus, Cabell’s or Ulrich’s? No problem! Librarians can still be a key resource to help faculty make wise publishing choices which can impact promotion and tenure by understanding the nature of predatory publishing and recognizing key identifying features. This poster will freely share available web resources which will help you be a predatory journal detective.

LIBRARIANSHIP IN NIGERIA—FIRST STEPS TO A BROADER VISION FOR LIBRARY TRAINING
Gregg Geary, Dean of the Library, Biola University
This poster session recounts a two-week library workshop given by Gregg Geary at the Jos Evangelical Theological Seminary in Nigeria in the fall of 2018. The workshop curriculum was developed from The Librarian’s Manual produced by ACL/CILA. The poster will also include follow-up on the development of a video series to address training in developing countries that resulted from the experience in Jos.

Dr. Clarence (Bud) Bence is Professor Emeritus of Historical Theology - School of Theology and Ministry at Indiana Wesleyan University. Dr. Clarence Bence loves church history and coffee. For the past 37 years, he has devoted himself to teaching in Wesleyan colleges, primarily at Indiana Wesleyan University. After serving three years as the Vice President and Academic Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at IWU, Dr. Bence returned to his first love—classroom teaching. He retired from full-time teaching in 2011, but maintains an active presence on campus. In 2011, he was the first recipient of the World-Changing Faculty Award at Indiana Wesleyan. Bud, as he prefers to be called, has authored a commentary on the book of Romans and numerous articles. His wife, Carol, was a faculty member in the IWU School of Nursing until her retirement in 2011. The Bences have three grown children and five grandchildren.

WORK/LIFE BALANCE & MISC: THE ART OF COMMUNICATION: A PSYCHOLOGICAL APPROACH TO LIBRARIANSHIP
Kristina Claunch, Reference/Instructional Services Librarian, Delta State University
As librarians, we communicate constantly in different forms and with different recipients. At times we are successful and at times we are confused, frustrated, discouraged, or even oblivious to communication problems. Combining psychology, librarianship, and a Christian perspective, this presentation will discuss aspects of communication and will detail situations where communication can escalate or dissipate a situation. This workshop will convey a greater understanding of strengths and weaknesses in communication and give ideas on how to utilize your gifts.

ADMINISTRATIVE/LEADERSHIP: LESS IS NOT MORE: EMBRACING THE HONESTY & COURAGE TO DO FEWER THINGS BETTER

Jeremy Labosier, Assistant Dean of the Library & Scholarly Communications Librarian, Biola University

Edward Walton, Dean, University Libraries, Southwest Baptist University

As higher education faces a very real crisis in terms of funding and enrollment, library leaders are asked to “do more with less” year after year. To say “no” is unthinkable and to say “yes” runs the risk of undermining the mission of our libraries (and our own sanity). So what are we to do? This highly-interactive session invites us to face uncomfortable questions about why libraries exist, how true we are to that mission, and how much our institutions can actually afford to spend on our libraries. This workshop will encourage you to consider more sustainable alternatives for your library.

INFORMATION LITERACY: GETTING BACK TO THE ROOTS—BASIC INFORMATION LITERACY WITH FRAMES AND LIBGUIDES

Jennifer Walz, Instruction & E-Resources Librarian, Danville Community College

Doing Information Literacy instruction is daunting. With the new Framework, instruction seems even more complex. Start from scratch with Libguides to help you on your way! This workshop will focus on using the basic tools and functions of Libguides to outline a scaffolded and interchangeable Information Literacy curriculum with Frames. With Libguides, your materials can be interactive, always available, and usable in the classroom as well as afterward by students needing a review. Practical tips on putting together a simple Libguide to get started will be provided. The workshop is for anyone who does Information Literacy instruction, including those not having Libguides, to those who are experts.
LIBRARIANSHIP: LIBRARY LEARNING SPACES

Jessica Moore, Research/Instruction Librarian, University of Northwestern—St. Paul

How does the “library as place” support student learning? What is it about library spaces that uniquely complements and enhances the learning that takes place in classrooms? These are important questions to answer as we seek to improve library services and space and articulate the library’s value as an integral partner in fulfilling the university’s mission. This workshop will explore how the attributes of physical spaces impact learning, informed by research on learner characteristics, learning theory, and active learning strategies.

REFERENCE/OUTREACH: HOW MAY I SERVE YOU? A UNIFIED SERVICE POINT FOR MEETING THE NEEDS OF YOUR LIBRARY USERS

Jeff Gates, Information Services Librarian, Cedarville University
Jim Mancuso, Vice President of Library Services, Northeastern Baptist College
Juliana Morley, Head of Public Services, Biola University
Michelle Norquist, Director of Library Services, Kuyper College

Do your students know where to go for help when they enter the library? Four librarians from different institutions of various sizes will discuss merging reference and circulation desks into a single-service point that serves as a one-stop service desk for library users. Learn how these libraries stopped giving students the “run around” and responded to meet their needs. Panelists will summarize the current research on merging service desks, share best practices for implementation, and discuss some of the challenges associated with the change. Come discuss, learn, and share your best practices and lessons learned.

TECH SERVICES & TECHNOLOGY: RDA—RELAX, DON’T BE ANXIOUS

Noelle Keller, Technical Services Librarian, Adrian College
Beth Purtee, Technical Services Librarian, Trevecca Nazarene University

Briefly…what is RDA? What are some of the key differences in AACR2 and RDA records and cataloging practice? What does RDA mean to my library? If time permits, Q&A and discussion as to how attendees have adopted and navigated using RDA in their libraries. The intended audience is beginning catalogers, technical services librarians, and solo librarians who do copy and original cataloging. This session will share the experiences of two Technical Services Librarians and what we have learned about using RDA. The emphasis will be on the practical application of RDA as opposed to the theoretical framework.

WORK/LIFE BALANCE & MISC: WHAT COUNTRY MUSIC HAS TO TEACH US ABOUT GOOD WRITING
Carol Reid, Editor, Randall House Publications

You can be your own best editor with five key strategies taken from classic country music songwriting. This workshop will not focus on scholarly writing, but instead on improving your other writing—everything from your library’s annual report to the devotional in your church newsletter to a magazine publication. Practical tips will help your written words carry more impact and emotion, reaching both the minds and the hearts of your readers.

ADMINISTRATIVE/LEADERSHIP: ROOTED IN COURAGE, GROUNDED IN CANDOR: STRATEGIES FOR DARING LEADERSHIP IN THE LIBRARY
Kellie Barbato, Access Services Librarian, Palm Beach Atlantic University

Whether or not you hold a leadership position in your library or consider yourself to have leadership qualities, you certainly function as a leader in at least one area of your life. It is of utmost importance to honor God in the way you lead, no matter the context. Certain dispositions and strategies can be utilized by leaders of all levels of experience to create an atmosphere in the library where every team member flourishes. This workshop will provide participants with practical takeaways to utilize in their daily work, regardless of whether they hold official leadership positions in their libraries.

INFORMATION LITERACY: CREATING AN ONLINE RESEARCH LITERACY COURSE

Steve Hamersky, Director of Library & University Archives, Newman University

Jeanette Parker, Reference & Instruction Librarian, Newman University

We created a credit-bearing information literacy course that launched Fall 2018. College Research Literacy is based on the ACRL Frameworks. The presentation will cover how original, adapted, and existing resources were utilized to create an eight-week, 100% online course. The challenges, roadblocks, and victories we have experienced will be discussed. A practical demonstration of the tools used and the course content will be followed with time for questions.

LIBRARIANSHIP: MENTORING WITHIN LIBRARIANSHIP & ACL

Jill Botticelli, Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary

Mark Hanson, Library Director, Maranatha Baptist University

A presentation of the findings of a mentoring survey conducted within ACL and ATLA by Mark Hanson the summer of 2018 will show the current state of librarian mentoring within Christian library associations. We will discuss ACL’s current mentoring program and recent changes to it. If time permits, a Q&A and discussion will follow on the role we all can play in mentoring one another.

REFERENCE/OUTREACH: A THREE-YEAR JOURNEY: RAISING THE LIBRARY’S PROFILE ON CAMPUS

Jeff Brodrick, Library Director, Grace Christian University

Erinn Huebner, Student Services Librarian, Grace Christian University

From the beginning of the 2016 academic year, the Bultema Memorial Library Director undertook the project to raise the profile of the library on campus and in the community, through a myriad of avenues: renovations—including remodeling the lower level and installing a small multipurpose theater room, hosting two campus Applying Christ Together (ACT) groups, bringing the student tutoring system under the library’s umbrella, extending the University’s café after hours, expanding the collection, and the addition of a priceless gifted Torah scroll, which sparked the renovation of the periodical room into a display showcase of authentic and replicated manuscripts and Bible translations. This workshop will highlight and analyze the processes involved for each of these endeavors, including the out-of-budget expenditures, successes, and suggested ways to improve on each. We will also discuss the continuing flow of ideas and upcoming projects that can be implemented in any library’s profile, ongoing outreach, and programming.

TECH SERVICES & TECHNOLOGY: IT ALL ADDS UP TO A NEW WEBSITE

Madi Brill, Student-Interdisciplinary Studies, Grace College
Rhoda Palmer, Grace College & Seminary

Is your website a dynamic representation of your physical library or are you stuck using the website designed by someone who knows nothing about services, collections, and opportunities available through your library? We will share the frustrations of dealing with the institution’s offer of a “marketing” page and how we used LibGuides to transform the library’s very wordy website into a vibrant resource for meeting the needs of our patrons. Come hear how 1 library + 1 talented student + SpringShare = a dynamic website.

EMERGING LIBRARY PROFESSIONALS INTEREST GROUP MEETING

Are you an emerging library professional or new to ACL? Then consider joining the Emerging Library Professional Interest Group as we meet to reflect on our key takeaways from the conference, learn more about the Association and how to get involved. Meeting Facilitator: Nathan Farley

SOLO LIBRARIANS INTEREST GROUP MEETING

Solo librarians need each other for information, insight, professional advice, support, and camaraderie. This year at our annual SLIG meeting, we will present a panel discussion on “How to Fly Solo.” Take advantage of this great opportunity to gain some wisdom with your colleagues on keeping focused, communicating with your superiors, collaborating, and managing volunteers. Meeting Facilitator: Jim Mancuso
TECHNICAL SERVICES INTEREST GROUP MEETING

What’s new in your technical services world? Please join the ACL Technical Services Interest Group for an open forum to discuss new and innovative projects happening at your library. This will be a time to share with other like-minded librarians what you are accomplishing at your institution. Come and share what you’ve been doing this year and offer best practices that have made your life easier. Have you changed proxy systems? Did you migrate to a new authority vendor? Come and learn what other people are doing and get connected with other librarians who can offer advice on the process. We look forward to hearing from you!

Meeting Facilitator: Sheila Carlblom

BIRDS OF A FEATHER DISCUSSIONS

Want more time to discuss library issues with like-minded colleagues? The Birds of a Feather Discussions will be informal gatherings of individuals who are interested in discussing certain topics, such as information literacy, leadership development, or personnel challenges. Just show up, pick a room based on the topic, and join in the conversation. You will have the opportunity in advance to propose topics for discussion—a great way to continue a stimulating discussion started in a conference presentation.

MUSICAL ENTERTAINMENT—SOPRANI COMPAGNI

Soprani Compagni was founded in 2010 by professors at Indiana Wesleyan University, Dr. Lisa Dawson, Dr. Tammie Huntington and Dr. Phoenix Park-Kim, to research and compile soprano duets from art song, opera and oratorio literature; to model soprano collaboration; and to commission new music for two sopranos and piano for the stage and studio. Soprani Compagni had their Carnegie Hall debut at Weill Recital Hall in 2012 and have performed and presented at numerous universities and concert venues, as well as national and international conferences in the United States, Argentina, South Korea, Hong Kong, China, and Sweden.

Thanks to a grant received from the Council for Christian Colleges and Universities, Soprani Compagni assembled a team of 12 award-winning composers for the purpose of commissioning new works themed around “Portraits of Women.” “Portraits of Women” is an expansion of soprano duet repertoire emphasizing the contributions of women in our society who have embraced their true worth and calling and have dared to change their world. It is the desire of Soprani Compagni that this new music will inspire those who hear it to celebrate the women in their lives, and inspire more sopranos to collaborate through performances by women and about women, connecting hearts and lives across generations.

WICHITA, KS
The IWU Conference Services staff is on-call 24-hours a day to assist with your needs and questions. If you have any issue with your dorm room, please contact them at 765-661-5432. For conference program questions, please contact April McKinion, ACL Conference Manager, at 919-600-8358. If a family member needs to reach you due to an emergency, please share this 24-hour emergency number: 765-677-2603.

ATM
There are two ATM’s in the Student Center—the VIA Credit Union ATM by the Student Center Information Desk (the southeast end of the building) and the Star Financial Bank ATM just off of the Commons on the northwest side of the building.

CAMPUS STORES
The Campus Bookstore will be open M–F. The hours are typically 9AM–4PM. For the most up-to-date hours, please consult the signage posted outside of the bookstore. The bookstore is located on the west end of the mallway in the Student Center (across from McConn Coffee). Trader James (the convenience store located on the east end of the mallway in the Student Center) is typically open M–F from 7:30AM–4:30PM. Please see posted hours.

CAMPUS SAFETY
Campus police can be reached by dialing 4911 from a campus phone or by calling 765-677-4911. In the interest of personal safety, please do not walk around the campus alone after dark. Walking off campus after dark should only be done if there are at least three people walking together.

CHECK-IN PROCESS
On-site registration and check-in for conference will take place based on the below schedule:

- Sun., 6/10  4–9PM  Jackson Library
- Mon., 6/11  8AM–9PM  Jackson Library
- Tues., 6/12  7:45–8:45AM  Student Center 1920 Gallery
- Wed., 6/13  7:45–8:45AM  Student Center 1920 Gallery

Conference participants staying on campus who arrive after these times should call the 24-hr conference services number: 765-661-5432. The Conference Services assistant will let you in for the night, but you must check in at the ACL registration table the following morning to get your registration packet.

CHECK-OUT PROCESS
- Drop your key and meal card in the box at the desk in the Scripture Lobby. (Remember there is a $45 lost key fee and a $10 lost meal card fee that you will be liable for if you do not turn in your items.)
- Place all dry linens in the pillowcase on the bed in the room. (Please do NOT put wet or damp linens in the pillowcase, but leave them hanging out to dry.)
- Dispose of any trash from the room in the large trash cans provided in the hallways on each floor.
- If possible, please take a moment to fill out the comment card provided in each room and leave on the dresser.
COFFEE
McConn Coffee Co. (@mcconncoffee) is a full-service coffee bar conveniently located in the Student Center. McConn provides a number of hot and cold drinks, premium desserts and pastries, and always fresh and delicious coffee drinks including the latest trends in specialty drinks. Their weekday hours are 7:30–4:30PM. In addition, they will be open 9–11:30PM on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday.

FOOD SERVICE
Meal times are posted on the conference schedule. If you miss a meal or want some non-cafeteria options, see the conference libguide at: https://indwes.libguides.com/2019acl.

JACKSON LIBRARY HOURS
- Sun: 4–9PM
- Mon: 8AM–9PM
- Tue: 8AM–5PM
- Wed: 8AM–9PM
- Thu: 8AM–5PM
- Fri: 8AM–5PM

LAUNDRY SERVICES
Laundry facilities are located on each floor in Scripture Hall. There is no fee for using the facilities. Please pick up laundry detergent in the Jackson Library.

LOCAL ATTRACTIONS
The Jackson Library staff has created a fun libguide with helpful information. See: https://indwes.libguides.com/2019acl then click on the “Historic Grant County” tab.

LOST AND FOUND
If you find an item that appears to be lost, please feel free to bring it to the Circulation Desk in the Jackson Library. Conversely, if you have misplaced something during conference, please feel free to check with the Jackson Library Circulation Desk to see if it is there.
